Kaka Singh & Dhoomketu Uncle -1

There are many things which we need to check in our dealing with Vehamology.
We will try to see, discuss, understand such common issues through a life story of Kaka Singh.

And as we go through the life of Kaka Singh, we will analyze, question and try to find out what else could be done.

 We can use replace Kaka Singh with ourselves to check....
Kahin hum bhi toh aisa nahi kar rahe...?

 We cannot ignore Love & Karmayoga as the only solution to Vehamology.

So here goes the story of

“Kaka Singh & Dhoomketu Uncle”

Kaka Singh's Career Counselling

Kaka Singh was a very intelligent, hardworking young boy from a well to do family. He loved teaching & helping other in their studies. Even as a student he used to teach children in his neighbourhood free of cost. And everyone was very happy & satisfied with his teaching style.

But when the time came to chose the career Kaka got afraid to chose Teaching as a profession and was confused about what to do in his life.

Suddenly one day he saw a self proclaimed super amazing Dhoomketu Uncle predicting & forecasting things on a very famous podcast. Kaka got impressed by the knowledge & records of Dhoomketu Uncle. And Dhoomketu Uncle's millions of social media followers, photos with big celebrities made Kaka fall in love with him.

So Kaka decided to consult Dhoomketu Uncle before starting a career. Although he wanted to teach children but Dhoomketu Uncle said him clearly “Teaching mat karna, barbaad ho jaoge varna”.

Instead Dhoomketu Uncle guided him to open a Kariyana Shop.

So following the advice of the super popular super amazing Dhoomketu Uncle, Kaka Singh is having a kariyana shop now.

Although he is not liking his work, but he is making nice profit. Although he still dreams of teaching kids but Dhoomketu Uncle’s warning “Teaching mat karna, barbaad ho jaoge varna”
always stops him.

Now the question is can we call Kaka's this life a success?

From distance we can maybe, by seeing his shop is doing well &
he is making nice money,
But the question is does Kaka consider his life a successful life?

Is making money, or doing something popular is better than doing what we wanted to do?

Don't you think it is better to do what one want to do rather than following money or trend or Dhoomketu Uncle's advice?

Ya ya ya...I know practicality bhi toh dekhni hoti hai...
But I think this kind of practicality is only followed by those who have fear more than love in their heart.

I don't think, any Sachin Tendulkar or any Abdul Kalam asks any Dhoomketu Uncle before following their passion.

Or for that matter, anyone who is doing what he loves ever go to any Dhoomketu for approval.

Do you remember the scene of Dhoni's biopic when he run away from his secured job to play cricket without consulting anyone...

That's how Love works.

Does Mahatma Gandhi or Bhagat Singh consulted any Dhoomketu before raising their voice & jumping into the freedom struggle...?

Nahi na... because they knew that's the immediate right thing to do.

And that's how Karmayoga works.

So if we are looking out to any Dhoomketu Uncle to tell us what should we do then it means:

Either we don't have something what we love doing

Or we don't see anything important in our life which we can serve.

Or is it fear which is stopping us to follow our heart...?

Instead of going to Dhoomketu Uncle, we need to honestly ask to ourselves first:
What is driving our life?

Love Or Karmayoga Or Fear?

 We can replace Fear with Greed, Both are 1 sikke k do pehlu

“It is better to die while doing your Svadharma than doing someone else’s dharma.”
