Monkey Baat

Nowadays many people raise & defend the issue that Hanuman wasn't a monkey at all. They decode or use many theories to prove their point.

That' completely Ok if Hanuman wasn't a monkey.
But we need to understand this also that it is completely OK too if Hanuman was a monkey or of similar species.

The points which make us to raise our argument and not accept or digest Hanuman as a monkey might be due to following reasons:

1. "If there's a story of Monkey helping Humans then people will consider Ramayana as a fantasy only."

Which I think is completely OK, but we should not waste our energy to get into the debate if Ramayana happened or was it a fantasy, rather we should try to understand the message, the lessons, the nectar which Ramayana carries.

2. “We think that Monkeys are lower than Humans in the chain of evolution and thus less in everything, but our Hanuman is a God so how can he be a monkey.”

Can't we see that the root cause of this concern is full of our inflated ego, that we think we are better than Monkeys... Are we really?

Or are we blind to accept the fact that the qualities which animals carries in their heart are of much more higher level than us.

Can't we see that in love of a Dog?

3. “What the best of the best human Ram & the most powerful magical villain Ravan could not do, how a monkey can be able to do it...? Impossible.”

So Hanuman must be a very high divine being...So we labeled Hanuman as Avtaar of Lord Shiva to somehow weaken our rejection of seeing him as a monkey.

Anyways, whatever might be the reason or reality, we won't go into that. Because as we said, we will try to concentrate on the useful essence of what the Legend of Hanuman carries for us.

And for that purpose only, we will see and discuss what message this Monkey God wants us to understand by being labelled as Monkey.
